

Archived replay – Climate change and resource depletion: what will be the impact for actuaries?

Why purchase?

We are here to make 'financial sense of the future' but we are barely looking at the two biggest issues facing society in the next 20 years. This archived replay looks at the myths and realities regarding climate change and resource depletion and focuses on concrete impacts and the role that actuaries can play. The session was presented at the Pensions conference 2010 and was later recorded by Simon Brimblecombe with additional reading provided by Vanessa Hodge.

Who should purchase?

Those that attended the session, those that were not able to make the session and all members interested in this topic should access this very highly significant presentation.

The replay will only be able to be seen three times per booking.
