

The Members of
 The Actuarial Society of America and of
 The American Institute of Actuaries

in joint meeting assembled November 8, 1945, hereby

Resolve, That fraternal greetings and congratulations upon the victorious conclusion of the war be extended to the members of The Institute of Actuaries and of The Faculty of Actuaries in Scotland.

That, in so doing, the members of both American societies express to the actuaries of Great Britain their gratitude for and their admiration of the immeasurable contribution to freedom and civilization made by Great Britain throughout the war, particularly in "their finest hour" when the British held the line alone while the fate of the free nations of the world hung in the balance; and

That they rejoice in the increasingly friendly relations between British, American and Canadian actuaries and express the firm belief that the dangers which have been faced together and the sacrifices made in the common cause will cement and further extend these friendly relations and result in still greater cooperation in matters of common interest among actuaries on both sides of the Atlantic.

THE INSTITUTE OF ACTUARIES

MESSAGE FROM AMERICAN ACTUARIAL BODIES

At a joint meeting on 8 November 1945, the Actuarial Society of America and the American Institute of Actuaries adopted unanimously a Resolution of fraternal greetings and congratulations to the members of the Institute of Actuaries and of the Faculty of Actuaries.

The Resolution has been sent in the form of an engrossment, which is reproduced here in facsimile.

The Council has conveyed to the two Sister-Bodies the warm thanks of the Institute for this signal mark of sympathy and encouragement. In due course the new home of the Institute will afford a place of honour to the engrossment. Meanwhile it is being hung in the Committee Room in Staple Inn Buildings.
