Introduction

Once again our network of Regional Societies and groups has had an incredibly busy and successful year. The committees of the societies and associations held over 150 events and delivered over 188 hours of CPD for IFoA members.

The network of societies, associations and groups now stands at 23 groups with a new international society, the Gulf Actuarial Society, launched in November 2014 covering the six gulf states.

This report provides information on all of the regional actuarial societies currently active throughout the UK, and internationally, as at the end of the 2014/2015 sessional year, as well as information on their activity throughout the session. These regional groups are made up of all qualification levels, including students, and are run by volunteer committees made up of representatives from local actuarial employers.

One of the key themes for this year has been developing a sense of community amongst the regional society committees. By introducing the monthly catch up call, quarterly newsletter and annual regions workshop, the committees of the regional societies feel more connected and engaged both with the IFoA and the other committees.

International development continues with groups imminently due to start in Toronto and Gibraltar and more focus will be given in the coming months to see where there are clusters of Fellows who would benefit from the establishment of a group.

All in all it has been a great year with the sense of community amongst the societies and groups growing all the time. It is an honour to work with the volunteers that are the regional society committees and to support them in their work for their regions.

Presidential engagement

The 2014/2015 session has been a fantastic one for presidential engagement, with all of the presidential team visiting one or more of our regional groups.

The importance of the regional society network to the future development of the IFoA has been recognised and features regularly in the key messages for presidential speeches at IFoA events.

The Chief Executive roadshows

The 2014/2015 session also saw Derek Cribb, Chief Executive, visiting many of the regional groups to talk about the future direction and strategy of the IFoA.

These sessions allowed members outwith London and Edinburgh to meet Derek and hear first hand his thoughts on the way the IFoA is moving forward.

Derek also attended the launch event of the new Gulf Actuarial Society in Dubai where he was able to meet over 50 members of the IFoA from the Gulf region.

Derek will be closing his tour with a trip to the Manx Actuarial Society in November 2015.

Commenting on his visits Derek said; "After a busy year of visiting the regional societies I was pleased to have the opportunity to open new lines of communication with our members. Keeping our members informed on the direction of travel for the IFoA and listening to ideas on the new CAA qualification has been extremely helpful.

Our Regional Societies are a vital component of the membership, giving a voice to local organisations wherever they are based. I found these visits an enjoyable and useful tool in communicating with our members and hope to continue these visits over the coming years ahead."

The Regional Society Workshop

Last year saw us host the first Regional Society Workshop, an event designed to gather together representatives from each of the committees and discuss the various opportunities and challenges faced by them whilst running their society or group.

Representative from almost all of the UK committees attended the session held in the IFoA office in Holborn Gate. Joining these 16 representatives were members of the IFoA Executive from the Member Support, Education and Public Affairs directorates.

During the day the topics covered included how to limit no-shows at talks and events, how to engage with policy consultations, communication with members and the committees and how to source good speakers and topics.

The 2015/2016 Regional Society Workshop

Planning has started for the 2015/2016 workshop and it is planned to hold this in either Manchester and it is hoped that, once again, the majority of committees will send a representative to attend. The challenge of engaging with our international committees is something that is still being addressed but the plan is for them to be able to join the workshop for part of the day at least via video conference.

Establishing and running a regional group or network

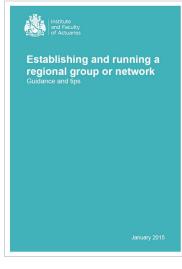

The toolkit!

A key piece of feedback from the Regional Society Workshop was that sometimes due to committees changes the knowledge and expertise on how to run a committee or group is lost.

Additionally, we are receiving requests on an ongoing basis to set up new groups both in the UK and internationally.

To help with both of these situations we created a document to guide individuals and groups when either setting a group up, or reinvigorating a dormant group.

If you would like a copy of this toolkit please contact Tess Joyce who will email it across: tess.joyce@actuaries.org.uk

The Regional Society Committee newsletter and monthly catch-up call

One of the strong messages that has come through from both the Regional Society Workshop and the ongoing meetings with the various committees is the desire for a stronger sense of community between the committees, and the ability to share ideas with the other societies and groups as well as the ability to ask them for help.

To help address these aspects two regular communication initiatives have been introduced.

The monthly catch-up call

On the first Thursday of every month an open conference call is held for committee members to connect and discuss their work, ask questions of each other or members of the IFoA executive.

Lasting about half an hour, this call brings together the committees and allows relevant information from the IFoA to be shared with them.

The Regional Society Committee newsletter

Issued on a quarterly basis to all regional society committee members, the newsletter shares information about what's going on both in the IFoA and in the various societies.

Societies are encouraged to submit copy for the newsletter and to use it as a channel for sharing their successes or for asking for help or advice.

Working party engagement

The IFoA currently has in excess of 70 active working parties producing member -led research for the benefit of the actuarial profession and wider public interest

Member-led research working parties are driven by members, for members and will typically report into a Board or Committee.

They are an integral part of the IFoA's strategy to deliver thought leadership activities, securing the long term sustainability of the profession.

Research furthers actuarial science and aims to provide members with cutting edge knowledge that is relevant to their working lives. Providing these working parties with platforms to share their findings is essential. One such platform is inviting the working parties to present to our network of regional societies and groups.

Work is underway to link relevant working parties with societies planning sessions for their members as well as raising the profile of the societies at the relevant Practice ECPD Committees.

Further information on the IFoA's working parties can be found here:

www.actuaries.org.uk/practice-areas/pages/practice-areas

Proposed Speakers Database

Sourcing relevant topics and speakers is often an area committees ask for help in.

As such we are in the process of compiling a database of the speakers who present at regional society events.

We are also engaging with the IFoA conference organising committees and engaging with those speakers who volunteered to speak at the conference but had not yet had the opportunity and asking them if they would be interested in speaking at our regional society events.

This is a work in progress and further information will be available shortly.

Student Consultative Forum and International Student Consultative Forum

One of the main areas in which our regional societies engage with the IFoA is with the Student Consultative Forum.

The Forum includes student representatives from each of the regional actuarial societies, the student societies, plus representatives from the Institute and Faculty of Actuaries and from ActEd.

The Forum meets twice a year, in May and November, to discuss issues of concern to students. Notes of previous meetings of the Forum are found on the IFoA website.

The Forum provides a platform for the education team to find out what students think about education strategy, tuition, exams and other related topics; and they strongly encourage student members to use the forum to raise any concerns they may have. Student members can raise any concerns with their local representative or with the Registrar, Karen Brocklesby. To engage more effectively with our international students and to provide them with a similar forum a new International Student Consultative Forum has been set up.

Where appropriate the model that has been created in the UK, where the forum member comes from the local regional society or group, will be replicated internationally. This has already taken place within the gulf where the forum member has joined the committee of the Gulf Actuarial Society.

Use of the Volunteer Recruitment Process

One aspect of support for the regional societies that has progressed very well this year is use of the volunteer recruitment process to recruit new members to regional society committees.

Using this process allows the society to demonstrate a fair, open and transparent recruitment process. It can also often open up committee positions to members not previously involved with the society and a new wealth of talent for the committee.

These vacancies are advertised within the volunteer vacancies area of the IFoA website, and where appropriate we can also advertise them in the appropriate IFoA newsletters.

We manage the process for the society and the volunteer a dvert is created in consultation with the society committee.

For more information on this process and to view a volunteer recruitment and selection process flow-chart please contact Tess Joyce: tess.joyce@actuaries.org.uk or Debbie Atkins: debbie.atkins@actuaries.org.uk, Head of Volunteer Engagement.

Key actuarial employers:

A note from John Hemsley, President of the Birmingham Actuarial Society

The Birmingham Actuarial Society had a successful 2014/15, with 7 CPD events delivering approx. 300 hours of CPD across the region. The evergreen "hare and hounds" pub crawl / quiz took place in November, congratulations to the winning team from Zurich General Insurance. This year's annual sporting tournament was indoor cricket, a remarkable performance led Barnett Waddingham to victory.

Personal highlights included:-

- Osborne Clarke coming up from Bristol to give a legal view on the impact of the 2014 Budget on pension schemes,
- the hosting of events away from Birmingham city centre (sessions held at Phoenix Life on the outskirts of the West Midlands and at NFU Mutual in Stratford upon Avon),

- a further visit from Neil Hilary (after 3 Professional Skills sessions in Spring 2014 all of which "sold out" within minutes, he came up again to run a "train the trainer" session), and
- a thought provoking presentation from Chris O'Brien on ERM (which Chris had volunteered to run having turned up at a CPD event in 2014).

I'd like to thank my fellow BAS committee members, especially Caroline Kidd of NFU Mutual who does all the hard work behind the scenes as Secretary without which the Society would not be able to operate smoothly, and also thank Tess Joyce who has been incredibly forthcoming with potential topics and speakers.

Key actuarial employers:

A note from Steven Yang Yu, Chief Editor of the CANUK newsletter

It has been a fantastic and busy year for CANUK and I would like to thank all of the committee for their hard work and continued support. I have summarised our key points for the past year below.

New sponsor agreement - Mansion House agreed to be the exclusive sponsor of CANUK for the relevant period effective from 1 June 2015 to 31 May 2016. They already sponsored a great summer reception event in June and it was well received by our members

Membership growth - We have seen significant membership growth over the last 12 months. Although we don't officially count the number of members, we constantly see new faces in our events and the attendance has improved every single time. Our WeChat group (Chinese version of What's app) has reached the 200 mark after we promoted CANUK at the Asia conference.

New website - The website of CANUK has been re-designed and launched recently with much better clarity and layout and is more user friendly. It also intends to have advanced functionalities including but not limited to membership registration and management, event registration, photo gallery, volunteer advertising and newsletter database. Although some of the functions are a still work in progress, we feel this is a significant achievement. Great effort and progress was made by our committee member Xie Wan. Events - The Asia conference held in May this year in Beijing was clearly an extraordinary success and CANUK had great presence at this event. We had more than 10 CANUK members attending and six presenting at the conference. We also held a summer reception in June which enabled our members to share their experience and thoughts from this trip.

Over the last 12 months, we have had multiple joint events with other actuarial societies such as SAAX (Southern African Actuarial ConneXion) and KSS (Knowledge Sharing Scotland). Most recently, our president Feifei Zhang also did a presentation at the Shanghai Actuarial Group about actuaries in the future. These are really exciting opportunities to broaden our social network and encourage cooperation with other regional societies. Presence in IFoA Council - Two CANUK members – Haijing Wang and Ellen Yang have been elected as IFoA council members this year. Together with Feifei Zhang and Cynthia Yuan who joined the council last year, there are now four Chinese actuaries on the council which are all CANUK members. Feifei and Haijing are also founders and committee members of CANUK.

Volunteer group - We have been trying to set up a CANUK volunteer group in the last few months in order to gain further support for our events as well as other IFoA activities. For example, a few of our volunteers including You Ma, Shubian Sun, Wei Zhen and David Zhong have helped the IFoA translate the English slides into Chinese for the Asia conference earlier this year.

A note from David Reeves, Immediate Past President of the Channel Islands Actuarial Assoc

'The Channel Islands Actuarial Association was established to help promote the interchange of actuarial views amongst members living and/or working within the Channel Islands. It achieves this by arranging regular locally hosted lectures / seminars on a broad range of actuarial topics which enjoy an excellent level of participation from its members.

The association also holds a formal annual dinner to which one of the IFoA's Presidential team is invited and where members, members' clients and local stakeholders can meet and develop their professional networks. The CIAA is proud and appreciative of its strong links with the IFoA and equally proud of its international components. Faculty of Actuaries Students' Society is an enthusiastic community of actuarial students and actuaries aimed at creating an environment in which we can:

- Support each other in our personal and professional development
- Enhance our knowledge of key topics in the Actuarial Profession and beyond
- Develop not only our technical skills, but also softer business skills and leadership
- Make long-lasting friendships and have fun together! (We do believe actuaries are also a fun bunch of people!)

To achieve this we:

- 1) Organise a series of talks, workshops and panels with business leaders, academics and development coaches
- 2) Organise a series of social events ranging from post-exam drinks and pub quizzes to dinner balls and ceilidhs
- Organise networking events during which we can not only get to know each other better, but also have informal conversations with some of our speakers
- Work closely with the Faculty and Institute of Actuaries to communicate the opinions of our members and also to co-organise various events in Scotland

Some of the highlights from last year included:

- Nine talks that included two panels, one workshop and the Hot Topics Conference. Speakers ranged from Chief Risk Officers and Chief Actuaries to researchers and business leaders
- 2) Several Social Events that included pub quizzes, dodge ball competitions, post-exam drinks and a Ball with Ceilidh at the Balmoral Hotel in Edinburgh!

This year we are planning an extensive programme which includes an even bigger series of talks and seminars with topics including:

The Glasgow Actuarial Students' Society (GASS) exists for both student and qualified actuaries in and around Glasgow. We aim to provide high quality, interesting talks which are relevant to our members and may also provide valuable CPD. We also organise social events throughout the year, with the key event being our annual GASS dinner. We have a good relationship with our FASS colleagues in Edinburgh and we work closely with the Institute and Faculty of Actuaries (in particular the Scottish Board) to support volunteering opportunities and member communications.

On our committee, we are pleased to have representatives from a number of actuarial employers in Glasgow and Stirling, and we also have a strong network of contacts across those employers not represented on the committee. This coming year, we look forward to continuing with a strong talks and social programme, building new links with students in local universities and providing real opportunities for our members to exchange ideas and conversation.

A note from the committee of the Leicester Actuarial Science Society

Our founding year as the Leicester Actuarial Science Society (LASS) has been a very busy and challenging one. In our first semester alone, we organised several high profile events for our society which included guest speakers presenting from companies such as Hymans Robertson and PwC.

In addition, our committee moved quickly to establish an online presence through creating a Facebook page, Facebook group and Linkedin group. Furthermore, the response from students was incredible; we had over 120 students attend our first ever society meeting in October 2014 which rather took our guest speakers from Hymans by surprise! Our second semester as LASS committee has been no different and in fact has been even busier than the first.

Our society was honoured to be invited to the regions committee workshop in London on the 2nd February 2015. One of our first year committee members, Priscilla Denteh, was present for the event and reported her findings back to us. We would particularly like to thank Tess Joyce and Jill Chipchase for their support in getting linked up with the other regional societies.

Manx Actuarial Society

Chairman: Graeme Easton, Canada Life Honorary Secretary: Tom Morfett, Canada Life

The Manx Actuarial Society has recently moved from a period of inactivity to being a highly active society. The society also has excellent links with other professional bodies and stakeholders on the Isle of Man and regularly engage with them for their events.

Events are held within member offices and usually take place in the evening after work.

There are currently 48 IFoA members located on the Isle of Man within the IFoA database.

Main practice areas

Life

A note from Graeme Easton, Chairman of the Manx Actuarial Society

After a few years of relative inactivity, a new committee of five plus two student members was elected at the end of 2014. The incoming chairman set the committee two targets: More speaker meetings than committee meetings and at least two speaker meetings per term. So far we have met those targets with five speaker meetings in the first part of 2015 and only three committee meetings.

The MAS has around 80 people on its mailing list, about half are fellows, a third are students and the rest are interested parties from other professions. Three quarters are based in the Isle of Man with the rest having links to the island being based mainly in the UK or Ireland, but also from as far away as Tokyo.

NWäS make excellent use of Mail chimp and have plans to use Survey Monkey to communicate with their members.

Key actuarial employers:

A note from Nigel Jones, President of the North West Actuarial Society

It has been a successful year for NWäS, with 50% more CPD events and a cumulative 300+ hours of CPD provided to our members. The committee are pleased to report the increase in events and CPD recorded, however we are also well known across the other regional societies for providing lively social and networking events, and this year was no exception.

Highlights of the 2014-15 sessional year for NWäS included:

- Our most popular seminar to date 'Leading your career', which explored personal development and career progression in the actuarial profession,
- Eight teams battling it out to be the smartest actuarial minds (at least in pointless knowledge terms!) in the North West at our annual pub quiz, with Mercer's 'Trivial Commutes' taking the crown, and

• We had record attendance at our annual dinner, and were joined by Nick Salter, the then-President of the IFoA as our guest of honour.

For the forthcoming year we are looking to build on our increase in CPD events, and ensure that we provide ample cover for all of the practice areas that our members represent. We are also hoping to cement our place as one of the best networking regional societies, with plans to introduce a new annual ten-pin bowling tournament amongst other things, together with examining the viability of a crossregion social event.

Norwich Actuarial Society

Secretary: Fionnuala Gonzalez, Aviva

Treasurer: David Storman, Aviva

Norwich Actuarial Society's membership is made up mainly of Aviva employees and they hold all of their event within the Aviva offices. As a society they prefer to run their sessions at lunch time. They have also, for the past two years, made excellent use of the IFoA's online CPD offering.

There are currently 1294 IFoA members located within the Anglia region on the IFoA database.

Main practice areas

General Insurance, Life and Pensions.

A note from Fionnuala Gonzalez, Secretary of the Norwich Actuarial Society

The Norwich Actuarial Society (NAS) plays a key role in offering CPD opportunities to IFoA members in Norfolk and the rest of East Anglia. Our geographical position means members can struggle to attend events in other parts of the country so we aim to host a variety of talks over the year covering different practice areas. The majority of members are based at Aviva in Norwich but we also have contacts from the University of East Anglia, firms in Ipswich and Cambridge and actuarial consultants based in the area. Increased presence on the IFoA website and advertising of talks on the Events calendar has been highly beneficial in 2014/2015 with talks attracting new attendees from as far afield as London, Milton Keynes and Cheshire. The NAS has continued to make good use of IFoA online content, showing a number of videos that have also prompted group discussion. Availability of these resources allows us to offer a wider range and number of events. Buffering does, however, remain an issue when showing videos so the ability to view these offline would be of benefit.

We have appreciated the greater level of engagement offered by the IFoA, primarily through Tess, in the last few years giving us awareness of and access to a wider range of opportunities.

Scottish Board

Leader: Suzanne Vaughan, Towers Watson Deputy Leader: Carole Ryden, Independent

The Scottish Board, while not a regional society in the true sense of the word, do have the responsibility for maintaining an active a vibrant actuarial community in Scotland.

While looking at the Scottish Board for this report we only consider their regional society activities. The Scottish Board carry out a considerable amount of work for the Scottish actuarial community over and above this work.

There are currently 1512 IFoA members located in Scotland on the IFoA database.

Main practice areas

Finance and Investment, Life, Pensions and Risk.

Key facts

Key actuarial employers:

A note from Suzanne Vaughan, Leader of the Scottish Board

2014/2015 was a successful fifth year in the history of the Scottish Constituency and the Scottish Board under Martin Potter's second term of leadership. I am delighted to have taken on the role of leader from end June 2015.

The KSS programme is continuing to be a huge success with now presenters approaching the Board, rather than the Board needing to do quite as much arm twisting! Good local CPD is at the heart of what we understand our members still want in fulfilling the last Faculty Council's commitment to members in relation to a continued and vibrant actuarial community.

We ran 15 KSS events over the year generated 580 hours of verifiable CPD. The 2015/2016 programme is currently being developed, with two scheduled and a plan to leverage ARC sponsored PhDs.

Feedback has been very positive reinforcing positive image of the Scottish Board (average rating of 4.1/5). The OCF planning has moved away from a separate committee to become fully integrated within the Scottish Board. The Scottish Board aims for the three OCF events in the 2015/2016 session to focus on more cross practice topics, ensuring the broadest reach.

I am grateful to all members of the Board for their support in helping to organise member events and representing the Board at various meetings, seminars and conferences during the year and look forward to an equally if not more successful year ahead.

SoNIA has very close links with Queens University Belfast and many of the Actuarial Science students attend their events.

The Society of Northern Ireland Actuaries continued to maintain the strong links between professionals working in the local market and actuarial undergraduates from the Queen's University of Belfast. SONIA's membership compromises of 90 professionals from local firms plus around 120 undergraduates.

SONIA has continued to host a number of events over the year, targeted at both professionals and undergraduates, primarily focussed around the pensions industry. These important events afford the local actuarial community the opportunity to discuss new issues and obtain CPD without the need to travel to the mainland.

A key highlight of the year was the sessional event held at Queens University in Belfast, attended by the President of the IFoA, Nick Salter. This was the first time a sessional event had been held in Belfast and was a great way to celebrate SONIA's third anniversary.

ACTUARIAL SOFTWARE

A note from Patrick Lee, President of the Wessex Actuarial Society

The Wessex Actuarial Society (founded in the 1970s) was known as the Bournemouth Actuarial Society until about 6 years ago when we renamed it to reflect its significantly wider geographical area of coverage. Talks typically alternate between Bournemouth and Southampton, but our members' locations range from Exeter to Salisbury, Winchester and Basingstoke. Like the other regional societies, we provide CPD opportunities to members and their employers locally to provide a more time-efficient alternative to attending events in London. We very much welcome the significantly greater level of engagement and support offered by the IFoA and Tess and her team, particularly in finding speakers, and in publicising events and vacancies via the IFoA website. In particular during the last 2 years, we have held very successful Professionalism Events for Experienced Actuaries using the case study videos provided by the IFoA. As well as CPD, we are looking forward to increasing networking opportunities for members via a number of social events, including holding our Annual Dinner.

A note from Malcolm Slee, Secretary of the Yorkshire Actuarial Society

The Yorkshire Actuarial Society has had another successful year with 11 meetings and on average more than 60 attendees. We also had a very successful champagne tasting evening and the annual dinner. The members of the society cover virtually all practice areas: life insurance, GI, pensions and all the major consultancies and so we look to arrange a wide variety of talks with as many as possible cross practice so as to appeal to all.

Fiona Morrison in particular gave an inspirational talk on her thoughts for the coming year and how we could all help. The best quote of the year was from the Professor of Finance and Economics who started his talk by saying he was here to bring uncertainty back into our lives.

The society is an excellent way for members to catch up with friends and previous colleagues as well as acquiring some valuable CPD at no cost. The majority of the members are based in Leeds, York and Harrogate with the meetings mainly take place in Leeds and York.

Regional Groups -International map

Developing groups internationally is something that will continue to be an area for development for the year ahead.

The focus of these groups will continue to be to provide IFoA members, and other actuaries, in the area with the ability to develop their professional networks as well as the ability to access relevant CPD.

These groups are very much member generated and member led groups. Where we have a member or group of members willing and enthusiastic to establish a group we will provide the support to make this happen.

We hope that these groups will bring all actuaries in the area together, and it is not our intention for them to be exclusively made up of members of the IFoA.

GULF ACTUARIAL SOCIETY

Launched in November 2014, The Gulf Actuarial Society is a truly international members group. With a committee member based in each of the six Gulf states GAS can truly be said to represent its members in the regions. The GAS committee are aiming to have two to three high-profile events per annum.

The Gulf Actuarial Society is open to both members and non members of the IFoA. The committee are planning to hold their third high-profile event on 23 November 2015 in Abu Dhabi.

There are currently just over 100 IFoA members located within the Gulf states of Bahrain, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates..

Main practice areas

General Insurance, Health Care, Life and Risk.

A note from Catherine Love Soper, Chair of the Gulf Actuarial Society

The primary purpose of the new Gulf Actuarial Society (GAS) was to increase the sense of community in the region, which I believe is important for any profession. By all working together via the GAS, rather than solely treating each other as competitors, I believe the GAS should serve to raise the profile of both the IFoA, and actuaries in general, in the region.

The other key benefit of our society is that we hope to hold two or three members events each year, providing both technical and professionalism CPD. There are around 100 members of the IFoA in the GCC but never before have they been "linked" together by a regional society.

We were extremely luck to have Derek Cribb, CEO of the IFoA launch the first GAS event last November in Dubai and a Presidential visit for our second member event in May. The GAS is very honoured to be receiving so much support from the IFoA. These events will not only help members to keep up their CPD requirements, thereby raising standards in the GCC, but should also promote the profession to potential new IFoA recruits here too.

The IFoA has had a foot hold in China for a number of years and our representative there Wen Li, has developed an excellent network of contacts within local employers and academia.

There are currently 443 IFoA members located within China and 308 IFoA members in Hong Kong on the IFoA database.

Main practice areas

A note from Wen Li, IFoA representative in China

The past year has been eventful for members in China. We have had our first inaugural IFoA Asia conference in Beijing this May. This was our first international conference held outside the UK, and our first Asia conference, not to mention our first cross practice and first combined professional and student event - marking a series of firsts for the IFoA. This is also the first time for many of our local members who have never attended the Life Conference or GIRO to attend a conference full of the UK style. Many have commented it was a great experience.

The second biggest event for the local members is the party we threw in both Beijing and Shanghai to celebrate two local Key facts members successfully winning the council election. It was a good opportunity for everyone to get together and we intend to have another social event around Christmas and Chinese New Year.

For the remaining of the year we are looking forward to meeting our new President-elect Colin Wilson in China for the first time. We will also be arranging a series of technical talks next year to make sure that enough CPD credit can be earned. Also there are talks about having interactive discussions between the UK and China members when plenary sessions of Life Conference and GIRO are taking place. All interesting and exciting!

South-East Asia Actuarial Activity

IFoA Representative: Caryn Chua

South-East Asia is a growth area for students of the IFoA.

We are lucky enough to have a representative to be based in Singapore – Caryn Chua. Caryn is working hard on building relationships in the region with members, local universities, employers and regulators.

There are currently 903 IFoA members located within South-East Asia on the IFoA database.

A note from Caryn Chua, IFoA representative in South-East Asia

The IFoA has been meeting with various stakeholders to raise the profile of our qualifications and the actuarial profession in the region. We have also reached out to our local members by organising networking and CPD events across many different cities in the region:

On 12 May 2015, the IFoA hosted a new qualifiers and prize awards ceremony in Singapore. David Hare, Past President of the IFoA presented to 7 new qualifiers and 2 winners of the Sir Edward Johnston Prize and the Charles M Stern Award.

The exam mentoring programme that was introduced earlier this year was a tremendous success and will continue to run twice a year in preparation for the April and September exams. Students who participated in these study sessions benefited from high level revision discussions with Fellows, and improved their exam technique and time management skills.

Following on from the success of the IFoA's inaugural Asia conference in Beijing, we are delighted to announce that we will be running the event next year in Kuala Lumpur on 3 and 4 March 2016. This will be a cross-practice conference at all levels and there will be a dedicated parallel half-day session for local university students. We extend a warm invitation to all our members worldwide to come and join us!
